The A-60 was the workhorse NMR instrument for decades as it allowed chemists to determine molecular structures easily and quickly and to follow the progress of chemical reactions. Courtesy Agilent Archives.