COMMEMORATING THE BIRTH PLACE OF SILICON VALLEY, A MILESTONE IN ENGINEERING

- WHEREAS,* On August 15, 2018, the Institute of Electric and Electronics Engineers (IEEE) and the IEEE Santa Clara Valley chapter (IEEE SCV) acknowledge the importance of the birth of Silicon Valley as an engineering milestone; and
- WHEREAS,* From its beginnings as an abundant agricultural region, known as the Valley of Heart's Delight, Silicon Valley began its transformation into a hub of robust technological innovation and development in the late 1800s; and
- WHEREAS,* Today, Silicon Valley is a leading global high technology and innovation center, home to many of the world's largest high-tech corporations and thousands of start-up companies; and
- WHEREAS,* The celebration of the birth of Silicon Valley affords us an occasion to acknowledge this region's contributions and importance to the future of our world.

NOW BE IT THEREFORE RESOLVED THAT

Congresswoman Zoe Lofgren

does hereby recognize the IEEE and the IEEE Santa Clara Valley Section for commitment and dedication to advancing technological innovation in our society on this Fifteenth Day of August, 2018.
